

Welcome to Warren County Agriculture!

Thank you for taking the time to learn more about Warren County Ag Producers! With a renewed interest in local foods, now is an exciting time for Warren County agriculture.

All of the farms and agribusinesses listed in this brochure are proud to offer wholesome products for you and your family to enjoy. From meats and eggs to milk and honey, you are sure to find delicious products to tickle your taste buds.

Thank you again for supporting your local farmer. A dollar spent in the local economy can have a far-reaching and positive impact on the community.

Penn State Extension and the Future of Ag Task Force are proud to offer this brochure in hopes of connecting consumers with Warren County producers. Please thank these hard working farmers and producers the next time you see them.

Attention Local Food Consumers and Advocates!

Would you like to help promote Warren County agriculture? Would you like to make a difference in the agriculture community? Do you want to help keep family farms viable in Warren County?

If you said yes to any of those questions, this is your chance to join a great community organization and help make a difference! The Warren County Future of Ag Task Force is looking for new members and volunteers who have a passion for all things agriculture.

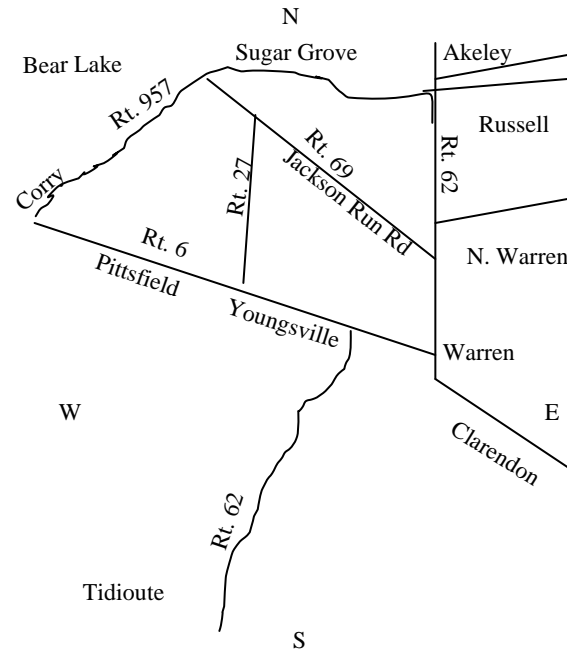

The Future of Ag Task Force meets every other month at the Penn State Extension office in Youngsville to brainstorm and develop ideas on how to promote, enhance, and improve agriculture in Warren County. In short, the Future of Ag Task Force helps farmers and consumers respond to the challenges facing agriculture in Warren County.

People from all walks of life are welcomed on the Task Force. Even if you have no background in agriculture, your thoughts, ideas, and opinions would be greatly valued by the Task Force. For more information on meeting dates and times, please call the Extension office at 563-9388.
